STATE EDUCATION AGENCY $1 MILLION OUT OF BALANCE

Jackson, Miss. — An expected upsurge in the number of school children this year has thrown the state department of Education 13 1/4 million dollars out of balance.

State Supt. of Education Jack Rabb said yesterday the department anticipated an increase of 1.3 per cent over last year's enrollment. The increase was 5.7 per cent.

As a result, he said, he plans to ask the 1960 Legislature to appropriate the deficit as soon as possible, to provide funds for continued operation until the fiscal year ends June 30.

The 1958 Legislature appropriated 38 million dollars for schools, the largest in state history.

Rabb said the jump in school attendance stemmed from a combination of factors.

YOUTHFUL BUCK RIDERS
 With the opening of schools, young cyclists are joining the early morning traffic, which means that automobile drivers should be alert and considerate. Thousands of Mississippi youngsters rely on this form of transportation, and from school and every neighborhood, motorist must make a special point to be extra alert for bike riders on the streets, roads, and in the vicinity of schools. It is recommended that bike riders have their two-wheeled steeds checked by a competent expert to insure that brakes, lights and signaling devices are working properly.

Mississippi workers earned almost $3 per week more in July than in the same month last year. The average weekly earnings of Miss. factory production workers was $61.00 in July, compared to $60.49 in June and $59.19 in July last year. Increase came despite

HOME AGENT'S NOTES
 by GLORIA CLAY

 Mississippi Agricultural Extension Service
 Removing the mulch from around a plant seems an usual recommendation, doesn't it?
 But if you remove the mulch from around unsheltered evergreen azaleas about three weeks before the first fall frost, they will get the most growth with the last winter injury. This is a recent research finding.
 Most of your azaleas may be protected by buildings, shrubbery and trees. If this is the case in your yard, they will not benefit greatly from mulch removal. It is the unsheltered plants it helps most.
 Yes, the mulch helps hold moisture in the soil in the summer for plant growth. But it lowers the air temperature in fall and winter by insulating the soil against heat loss. Tests in October and November showed the air was 5 degrees lower two inches above plants not mulched.
 In one case there was a temperature of 28 degrees a week before the first frost. The researchers found frost on the hay mulch and on the mulched azaleas, but no frost on the bare ground or on unmulched azaleas.
 They also found the winter injury to the plants was related to how long the plants stayed mulched. The longer the mulch remained in the fall, the greater the winter injury.
FOOD FOR CHILDREN
 Children are not "little adults" in their attitudes toward food. They have tastes and likes and dislikes different from the grown-ups. As you prepare and serve food for the children, remember:
 1. Children have keener senses of taste and smell than grown-ups. Children under six like mild-flavored foods.
 2. Children from 2 to 6 years old often prefer raw fruits and vegetables. They like crisp foods in a meal, if for no other reason

Why we built two cars for 1960 . . . as different as night and day
 On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.
 Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.
 And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.
 In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.
 Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.
 That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.
 The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance. It is designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.
 The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long . . . and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.
 Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength . . . it's a whole new kind of car that is virtually rattle-free.
 The ride is fantastic. But to we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; every spring would give a choppy, choppy ride. Right now we have one prediction: no other U.S. car will ride so comfortably on a road so firmly and handle so well.
 Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it is a kind of car to serve America today. If you love luxury—ride in luxury—and if you want interior space, breath-taking silence, automatic drives and power assists—the conventional Chevrolet may be your choice.
 If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's. It is the only logical choice for you, between two cars like this. They make a perfect pair.

77,400 HEAD OF LIVESTOCK SLAUGHTERED IN JULY

Commercial slaughter plants in the state handled 77,400 head of livestock in July, an increase of 12,000 head over July last year. The July slaughter consisted of 21,900 head of cattle, 8,700 calves and 47,000 hogs. The cattle weighed 18,265,000 pounds, calves 3,632,000 pounds, and the hogs 10,162,000 pounds. Slaughter for the first seven months of the year totaled 510,200 head weighing 199,014,000 pounds compared with 422,700 head weighing 171,682,000 pounds in the first seven months of last year.

AT NIGHT CAN BE VERY DANGEROUS

Hauling cotton is unlighted trailers or animal drawn wagons on the open highway after dark is extremely hazardous.

According to the Mississippi Highway Patrol, accidents involving farm equipment on highways generally increase during the cotton-picking or haying season.

In cotton producing sections, many farmers transport cotton to be ginned during pre-dawn hours. Still another common practice is to leave the field after dark with a trailer or wagon loaded with cotton or other farm produce.

Unless these trailers are equipped with lighting equipment fulfilling requirements of Section 8229-02 of the Motor Vehicle Code they are in violation of the law if used after dark. State law prescribes the following safety requirements for every semi-trailer or trailer weighing three thousand (3,000) pounds gross or less: "On the front, one red tail lamp; two red reflectors, one at each side; one red or amber stop light if the semi-trailer or full-trailer obscures the stop light of the towing vehicle."

In the case of animal drawn wagons, a lantern or other lighting device visible for 500 feet is required when the wagon is used on the public highway after dark.

Public Safety Commissioner Tom Scarborough urges farmers to comply with traffic safety requirements in an effort to curb harvest accidents.

But he also warns motorists to keep alert when driving at night. "Don't overdrive those headlights," he warns. "Pay particular attention when meeting an oncoming vehicle. Don't drive recklessly into that blind spot between you and the approaching vehicle."

"It is in this blind spot that an unlighted wagon or piece of farm equipment becomes extremely dangerous."

MISSISSIPPI ONE OF TWO STATES LOWEST IN CRIME IN RELATION TO POPULATION

A recent annual survey showed that North Dakota and Mississippi had less crime in relation to population than other states in 1958. In North Dakota, 327.7 persons per 100,000 population were accused of crimes, and in Mississippi the figure was 335.8. The national average was 896.6.

Plans To Enlist 10,000 New Members This Year

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation plans to enlist 10,000 new members in its organization—the only voluntary, general farm organization in the state—during its 1960 membership drive which gets underway next month.

D. H. Echols, assistant to the federation president, announced that there are some 30,000 farm families in the state that were not members in 1959 and a major effort will be made to enlist at least one-third of these families. Membership in the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation has hovered about the 60,000 level for the past three years rising from about 16,000 members through the years since 1950.

Membership soliciting teams this year will spend less time working with recruiting members and concentrate most of their efforts on those families who have been overlooked in the past or who have dropped out from participation for at least one year.

Each year Echols said, we have been adding from 5,000 to 7,000 members to our group while we suffered a 12 percent backdoor loss of those who failed to retain their membership in the federation. The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation is a privately supported, dues paying federation of farm families that serves as the voice of agriculture in the state. Nationally, it is affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation with over 1 1/2 million farm family members. The Farm Bureau represents organized agriculture in Congressional hearings and in public statements and actions throughout the year.

If we can successfully reduce our backdoor loss this year, Echols said, we will have a substantial gain in membership with new members added to the organization.

With the farm population diminishing each year Echols said, it is more important than ever that our membership remain as large as possible and alert to the many threats to agricultural states such as Mississippi.

To Meet Need of Rehabilitation

Minneapolis, Minn.—The State Rehabilitation Center, has placed increased emphasis on the need for rehabilitation of the physically handicapped.

There is a deep feeling in their understanding of the need for rehabilitation, Kline said. "At such students, medical and nursing fellowships to encourage courses in physical medicine," he said. "Kline said that the University of Minnesota, through its hospital, Delta, Tennessee, Philadelphia, Pa., Columbus, Ohio, University of Michigan, University of Illinois, University of California, San Francisco, Calif., Stanford University, and other hospitals, are working to meet the need for rehabilitation of the physically handicapped."

Through the years, the foundation has supported nurses and physical therapists leading to graduation as "Kenny" therapists in techniques of treatment and rehabilitation. Not only as they apply to the other members of the family.

Doctors and physical therapists from many have come to the University of Minnesota for special training in treatment and rehabilitation.

GULF CHEVROLET COMPANY

Highway 90 West

Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America. First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it—a ride that completely eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight, lets you move faster over any ground to get more work done in a day.

Brawner bulldozer build! They're tougher than any Chevy trucks ever made. Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs! Easier to hop in and out of, too. Many models are a whole inch lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, too, more width for shoulders and hips. The windshield's bigger, with a wider, safer sweep of vision. Suspended pedals give you more foot room.

Big in the power department! With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights. With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in new Low Cab Forward models.

More models than ever! New 4-wheel-drive models and tandems and high-style suburban Carryalls. It's the handsomest, hardest working Chevy fleet ever to report for duty. See your dealer for the whole story and, by all means, take a ride. It's something!

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

Sallee-Salvant Wedding Saturday

The Church of Our Lady of the Gulf at Bay St. Louis was the scene of the September 19 wedding of Miss Branda, Evie Ann Salvant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Guy Clifton Salvant of New Orleans and Waveland, Miss., and Mr. Ernest Sallee, Jr., U. S. A.
F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sallee,
Sr. of Philadelphia, Arkansas.

The groom's mother chose a black taffeta with all over blue silk embroidery, featuring a scallop-edged neckline. Matching blue hat and accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids completed her attire.

The reception rooms were decorated with palms, white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Crystal candelabras with tall white tapers and chrysanthemums trimmed the cake table.

Tables canopied with colorful Japanese umbrellas were used in the garden which was centered with a bird bath encircled with red salvia and topped with an arrangement of white mums and greenery.

The bride traveled in a powder blue French wool suit styled with a fitted jacket, worn with a light blue feathered hat and dark blue accessories.

After the wedding trip to Florida the couple will go to San Antonio, Texas, where Mr. Sallee is stationed.

Among prenuptial parties for Miss Barbara Ann Flink, bride-elect of James Paul Borden, Jr., was a surprise shower given by Mrs. A. Anselmo and Mrs. Andy
Reith at their home on Marigny Street in New Orleans.

The table decorated with pastel color gladioli, was centered with a two-tiered miniature wedding cake adorned with a small old fashioned bouquet of white sweetheart roses. The cake was encircled with dolls dressed to depict the bride and groom and six bridesmaids. The honoree was presented a corsage of sweetheart
roses and many beautiful gifts.

The guest list included members of the family and friends in New Orleans.

On Saturday, Sept. 19, Miss Flink
was the honoree at a surprise dinner party in the 1840
room at Antoine, in New Orleans.

Hostesses for the occasion were Misses Joan Lynn Labodet and Noemi Breland and Mesdames Thomas Peterson and James Ma-dare, all members of Miss Flink's graduating class at Loyola.

The bride-elect was presented a corsage of red roses and a number of lovely gifts.

The marriage will be celebrated on November 14 in Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

The Diary Of Anne Frank Will Be At Star Theatre, Sunday And Mon.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" as a book, stage play and now a motion picture, Sunday, Monday, Sept.
27-28, at the Star Theatre has made a record for itself rarely equalled by any piece of writing that it would ever be published.

Anne Frank, aged thirteen,
started keeping the diary a short time before she, her parents and sister and four other people went into hiding in Amsterdam following the Nazi invasion of the Netherlands. She continued her record until shortly before the Germans forced them to leave.

Written in Dutch, the diary was first published in 1947. In 1952 it came out in the U. S. A., where it sold over 1,000,000 copies.

Translated into 21 languages,
the most recent figure on sales in countries outside the United States is approximately 1,980,000.

The stage play, based on Anne Frank's story by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett, opened on Broadway in 1955 and ran nearly two years. It has been presented in some 30 countries, including West Germany, where it was the most-performed play of the 1955-57 season. This was also true in Switzerland and Austria.

"A Hole In The Head" To Be At A&G Theatre Saturday, Sunday - Mon.

"A Hole in the Head" opening
on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at the A & G Theatre through United Artists release stars Frank Sinatra in the most lovable role of his brilliant career - a happy-go-lucky guy who loses his kid,
his Miami Hotel and maybe a cop-
ple of women in his life.

The film is a screen adaptation of Arnold Schulman's Broadway hit play and in addition to Sinatra stars Edward G. Robinson, Eleanor Parker, Carolyn Jones, Thelma Ritter and Keenan Wynn. And it introduces Eddie Hodges, the 12
year-old star of "The Music Man," making his movie debut.

Frank Capra, three-time Academy Award winner, produced and directed "A Hole in the Head"
for Sineap Productions (a title made up of his name and Sinatra's) in Deluxe color and CineScope. Arnold Schulman
wrote the screenplay. William Daniels was director of photography and Nelson Riddle composed and conducted the musical score.

For "A Hole in the Head," Frank performed in an added capacity as co-producer. Thus, when he was not actually before the cameras he spent his time on the set confering with various department heads on such varied aspects of movie production as costumes, sets, advertising campaigns, and other important matters.

Edward Robinson makes a very welcome return to comedy in "A Hole in the Head." Although everyone knows that he achieved his greatest screen fame in "Little Caesar and in other gangster roles in the same pattern, only a very few are aware that he began his distinguished stage career in light comedy.

Eleanor Parker, Hollywood's
"nice girl," plays a nice girl in
"A Hole in the Head."

Carolyn Jones as Sinatra's goofy girl friend, she is called upon to play the bongos, dance everything from a fox trot to a wild samba, undress behind a sheltering plan, swim in the surf by moonlight in the altogether, and play a love scene clad only in a man's shirt.

Thelma Ritter, one of the greatest comedienne in show business, makes a return to Hollywood in
"A Hole in the Head" after a two year sabbatical.

Keenan Wynn comes by his talent through one of the truly distinguished theatrical lineages. His grandfather was Frank Keenan,
the great matinee idol of the early 1900's, and his father, of course, is the beloved comedian Ed Wynn.
